

Workshop: Interactive session to experience innovative approaches to support emotional openness and caring perspectives in our work with laboratory animals

Thursday 10.4.2025 at 9-12

Place – Viikki, Infokeskus Sali K1088 (Viikinkaari 11, Helsinki)

Workshop leaders: Jordi Tremoleda and Fernando Gonzalez Uarquin

Description: This session follows up on Jordi Tremoleda's presentation and is an opportunity to experience the Care-full-stories work, through a dynamic, participative and engaging group session. This will be a fun and creative opportunity to experience such activity to get familiar with the training materials, which consists of a selection of scripted scenarios- and how the group activity is structured. This group exercise will serve to help attendees to experience this training tool and reflect on how this can be planned and suited to your institution's needs. And importantly, it will be an opportunity to collectively exchange ideas and experiences, to build up professional and emotional connections to empower the great value of our caring duties to the animals and our colleagues at work.

For this session we welcome all the colleagues working in our lab animal community, including researchers, across all levels of expertise and seniority, veterinarians, animal technicians, policy makers, AWB members and animal welfare/ ethics professionals.
